Dear Valued Customer,

Puritan Medical Products has been the industry leader of high quality medical, diagnostic and critical environment supplies in the United States since 1919. We continue our efforts to bring Puritan products to the global markets to fulfill a need for Puritan's quality and performance standards. To that goal, we have added MicroScientifics to our team, a global sales and marketing company with extensive experience in Latin America.

Veronica Furtado Coborn, President of MicroScientifics is a native Brazilian with many years of experience in the microbiology markets. We have full confidence in her ability to provide a wide scope of services including product training, sales materials in English, Portuguese and Spanish, continuous involvement in meeting your needs and your first line representative at Puritan for Latin America. Veronica's native language is Portuguese. She is also fluent in English and Spanish. Veronica built the Latin American distribution system for MicroBioLogics, the world's leader in quality control microorganisms. Meet the MicroScientifics team at www.microscientifics.com.

With the first contact, you will know why Puritan has elected to add MicroScientifics to our growing family of international representatives. They have staff members in Recife Brazil, Tampa, Florida USA and St. Cloud, Minnesota, USA. They have technical staff servicing all of Mexico, Central America, the Caribbean and South America. Veronica Furtado Coborn will be contacting you very soon.

We welcome the MicroScientifics team to our Puritan Medical Products company marketing efforts. We encourage you to embrace our newly elected Latin American representatives. Our team here at Puritan stands ready to process your order; the ordering process will not change as Puritan will continue receiving and shipping your orders directly. We pledge our continued quick service on shipping our extensive inventory of products. Puritan's international customer service team will answer any inventory, invoice, customs and shipping questions you may have.

Thank you for remaining a Puritan Medical Products Company customer.

Sincerely,

Timothy L. Templet
Executive Vice President of Sales
